“I attempt to treat my patients as I would want to be treated, listen to them, and try to meet their needs. I meet them where they are and I am available when they need me.”

About Nancy Chorba,

Dr. Nancy Chorba first worked as a lab tech before pursuing a career as a physician. “I wanted to work in primary care to take care of the whole patient instead of a single organ,” she explains. Positively affecting her patients’ health and building relationships with them are her favorite parts of her profession. “I attempt to treat my patients as I would want to be treated, listen to them, and try to meet their needs. I meet them where they are and I am available when they need me,” she explains. She will always go the extra mile for patients. “I may not know everything, but I will find out,” she says.

When not with patients, Dr. Chorba can be found reading, biking, hiking, and visiting with friends and family.
