“I care about their lives outside of the clinic, I involve patients in decisions about their care, and I try my hardest to do what I say I will do.”

About Liv Dinoso, DNP, FNP-C, PMHNP-BC, CNE

Liv Dinoso’s desire to help others led her to pursue a career in healthcare. She adds, “I love learning, and in this field, you are constantly learning new things and adapting to change.” She is passionate about mental health and “promoting preventative health practices.” She finds it very rewarding to work with the senior population and cares about each of them as a “unique individual.” She explains, “I care about their lives outside of the clinic, I involve patients in decisions about their care, and I try my hardest to do what I say I will do.”

Liv Dinoso loves living an active lifestyle with her husband and children. They especially enjoy learning martial arts, dancing, and traveling the world to “try new foods and experiences.”
