

“Healthcare should be about quality not quantity. We should focus more on improving outcomes rather than the number we treat.”

About Yung Sim, MD

Dr. Yung Sim found his passion for healthcare later in life, after his parents developed health problems. “Healthcare should be about quality not quantity. We should focus more on improving outcomes rather than the number we treat,” he says. His favorite part of his profession is seeing patients leave his office feeling better. He loves talking with patients and encouraging them to take charge of their health goals. “The best way to help my patients is listening,” he explains. He adds, “I’ve worked with many populations and find helping seniors to be the most rewarding and meaningful.”

In his free time, Dr. Sim enjoys attending concerts, watching sports, and cooking. He also loves the outdoors and has a mini garden on his balcony.

Yung Sim, MD

LANGUAGES SPOKEN

English
Korean

SPECIALTIES Geriatrics

EDUCATION

Saba University School of Medicine
Advocate Christ Medical Center
Indiana University-Purdue University
Indianapolis
Indiana University Bloomington

PRACTICING SINCE 2015

ASSOCIATIONS

American Board of Family Medicine
American Medical Association

MY CENTER

Jeffery Manor

2231 E. 95th Street,
Chicago, IL, 60617

\(773\) 768-7700768-7700)

Request Appt.

View Center